Community Engagement Update

The 2017 Freeport-McMoRan Working Toward Sustainable Development report now is available on our website. This report is designed to provide stakeholders with information on our sustainability programs, including:

- Policies
- Management Systems
- Performance Data

The company commissioned the L. William Seidman Research Institute at Arizona State University to develop annual Economic Impact Reports for company's operations in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.

Climax Molybdenum's direct and indirect economic impact on the State of Colorado was approximately $367.5 million, including the Henderson and Climax operations. In addition, both sites collectively had nearly 700 employees at the end of 2017 and a total impact of approximately 3,400 jobs contributing to Colorado's economy.

For the third consecutive year, Freeport-McMoRan has received the top honor for the Materials Sector by the Civic 50. This is the sixth consecutive year the company has been recognized as a leader for the sector. The Civic 50 has provided a national standard for superior corporate citizenship since 2011 and showcases how companies can use their time, skills and other resources to improve the quality of life in the communities they do business.

Freeport-McMoRan Foundation Investments – Grant Opportunities/Social Investing

Mini-Grants for Education – designed to support K-12 teachers and schools in Freeport-McMoRan communities. Eligible programs range from field trips to literacy efforts to incentives for student performance. Deadline to apply: Oct. 1, 2018.

Women's Development Grant Program – established with the goal of supporting programs and projects that focus on providing women and/or girls opportunities to reach their full potential and achieve economic success. Deadline to apply: Oct. 1, 2018.

Second Quarter 2018 Initiatives and Project

During the second quarter, Henderson operations was proud to partner on the following initiatives and projects:

- High school scholarships were awarded to four students from West Grand and Middle Park schools in the amount of $1,500 each
- After-prom activities at all regional high schools
- Scraps to Soil community garden planning for 2018-2019
- I-70 Coalition support
- Support for Clear Creek representatives to attend the regional broadband training and convening

The Rural Policy Forum connects rural economic development professionals, nonprofits, community leaders, business owners and other stakeholders who are interested in sustaining rural communities. To kick off this three-day forum, Freeport-McMoRan hosted a convening of community leaders across communities where we operate to share learnings and discuss opportunities around economic diversification.

Lindsey Valdez attended as a representative of Clear Creek County and provided highlights of learnings from the convening and networking opportunities event.

Leadership for Sustainable Communities Initiative

During the third quarter, the Panel welcomed the Clear Creek County Housing Cohort to provide an update on its work around access to attainable and affordable housing. The cohort updated the group on plans for ongoing land development and coordination with the County, Habitat for Humanity, the Town of Georgetown and City of Idaho Springs – with a goal of increasing the number of development opportunities and units constructed.
