Safford operations continues development at Lone Star. Mining occurs 24 hours per day, with three production shovels in place and a fourth shovel expected before end of year. Hiring is ongoing, and Safford is expected to increase to 1,100 full-time employees as Lone Star is developed through 2020, and then decrease to 1,000 after mining in the San Juan pit ceases in 2021. Approximately 300 contractors will support various activities in phases throughout the project to include upgrades to some existing infrastructure and construction of a new leach pad, now underway. In the third quarter, a daily average of 180 contractors were on-site. Construction activities on the Lone Star leach pad are occurring 24 hours per day and, as a result, residents may see lights around the construction area overnight. This is expected to continue through the end of 2018 or early 2019.

In addition to the 1,000 employees at the Safford mine, the Central Analytical Services Center and Technology Center at Sanchez employ approximately 200 employees and the Morenci mine in Greenlee County employs more than 3,600 with a daily average of 1,300 contractors supporting ongoing operations and strategic projects at site.

Community Engagement Updates

Prazen Living Legend of Mining Award: The National Mining Hall of Fame and Museum recently recognized the Freeport-McMoRan Foundation for its significant and sustained commitment to educating the public about the importance of mining to our everyday lives through: investment in STEM-education initiatives, partnership with Discovery Education on Dig Into Mining, partnership with the Boys Scouts and Girl Scouts of Arizona, Mining Week in Greenlee County schools and other successful partnership and outreach activities.
